A REPORT OF THE MEDFIELD BRANCH OF
THE MASSACHUSETTS VOLUNTEER AID ASSOCIATION.

In the latter part of June, 1898, a circular was sent out by the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid Association, informing the citizens of this State that the Association had decided to purchase a steamship, and fit it out as a floating hospital to be used in relief of the sick and wounded soldiers of our army in the West Indies. Some of the people of Medfield had already become warmly interested in the work of the Red Cross; and, with the hope of organizing a town movement to aid in this great philanthropy, two preliminary meetings had been held in the vestry of the Unitarian Church. These were soon followed by another meeting in the vestry of the Second Congregational Church. At this third meeting an organization was formed, with Mr. Willard Harwood for President, Mrs. J. A. Savage for Secretary, and Mrs. L. M. Pierce as Treasurer. In a few days these three officers issued a call for a public meeting to be held in the rooms of the Medfield Historical Society on the evening of Friday, July 8, 1898. At this gathering, which was well attended, much interest was shown; and the work of organizing was promptly and effectually completed. A Finance Committee was chosen, collectors were appointed, and a large committee of women was elected to purchase material and make hospital garments, and to procure and forward other necessities for the sick and wounded soldiers. It was also voted that the Medfield organization should be a local branch of the Massachusetts Volunteer Aid Association, and do all its work in alliance with the State organization. At the close of the meeting generous subscriptions were received from many present, and it was felt that the good work had been well commenced. During the next few weeks the collectors and Finance Committee were very active in the procuring of contributions, while the women's committee was busy making and sending hospital garments. In due time the sum of $392.45 had been collected and placed in the hands of Mrs. Pierce, the Treasurer, whose report is herewith submitted, and is as follows:—

TREASURER'S REPORT.

| | $392.45 |

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. L. M. PIERCE, Treasurer.

The above amount does not include all that was contributed by the citizens of Medfield to this philanthropic work. Several of our citizens paid generous contributions directly to the Treasurer of the State Association in Boston, and so the Treasurer of the Medfield branch is unable to report the whole sum contributed by this town; but it is safe to say that it was not less than $500. The small balance of $3.45 remaining in the hands of the Treasurer at the time of her report has since been paid to the Finance Committee, and used by that committee in paying for the printing of this full report, which is now and hereby respectfully submitted.

MRS. J. A. SAVAGE,

Secretary.

MEDFIELD, Feb. 1, 1899.

REPORT OF THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

A time-honored custom, the laws of the Commonwealth, and the interest of the people in the public schools require that the School Committee shall annually report to the town its doings, the condition of the schools, and make such suggestions as may, in their opinion, conduce to the welfare of the interests in its charge.

ORGANIZATION.

At the first meeting of the Committee for the year Albert A. Lovell was chosen chairman, George Washburn secretary.

TEACHERS.

There have been no changes in the corps of teachers during the past year, except at the North School. Miss Isabel D. Bailey, who was in charge, declined a re-election at the beginning of the fall term. Miss Rosa S. Allen was chosen her successor, and taught a few weeks, but owing to ill-health tendered her resignation; and Miss Mabel F. Melcher was elected to fill the vacancy, and has continued in charge of that school.

COURSES OF STUDY.

The regular courses of study prescribed have been followed, and special work has been performed as indicated below.

NORTH SCHOOL.

Mabel F. Melcher, Teacher.

SIX GRADES.

Attention has been given to oral and written expression in connection with all studies. Interest has been shown and encouraged in the observation of natural phenomena. A weather record has been kept, also reports of the moon's phases and the constellations seen. Daily calisthenics have proved very beneficial.

SOUTH SCHOOL.

Wilma E. Bowden, Teacher.

SIX GRADES.

The work of last year has been continued, and nature study has been added, taking through the winter months the common animals. New physiologies, histories, and geographies have added much to the interest in those branches.

RALPH WHEELOCK SCHOOL.

GRADE I.

Mary B. A. Dunn, Teacher.

Regular work has been done in reading, arithmetic, and writing. The alphabet has been taught a little earlier than is usual, and more has been done in spelling both by letter and sound. Dictation exercises have been begun, hoping to gain thereby in spelling and correct forms of expression. Observation talks are quite frequent on objects and animals.

GRADES II. AND III.

Susan M. Chase, Teacher.

The work of caring for a large school has been lightened by two circumstances,—excellent attendance and enthusiasm. At two different times no one was absent during an entire week, thus making the attendance 100 per cent. for those weeks. Care has been taken in the arrangement of written work. Language work has been made prominent as heretofore. Special attention has been given to having the children tell a story in connected language from one which they have heard or read. The simplest rules of punctuation, followed by sentences illustrating them, are copied into blank books. The spelling this year has been better than ever before. This end has been kept in view,—to have the child know a word by sight, by sound, and by letter.

GRADES IV. AND V.

Ida Pearl Brigham, Teacher.

The course of study has been followed with lessons in physiology from a chart once a week. In arithmetic, pupils have had drill in mental work in addition, to secure rapidity as well as accuracy. A new feature is the ten-minute morning talk, the subject-matter taken from daily environment, the object being to lead the pupil to observe and think for himself, and so increase his interest in, and love of nature.

GRADES VI. AND VII.

Jeannette E. King, Teacher.

In addition to the work carried on last year we have introduced the use of the modelling table as an aid in the study of geography, in Grade VI. Grade VII. has a weekly lesson in United States history. The latter part of the spring term the children drew from life, not with the expectation of obtaining likenesses, but with the idea of securing correct proportions.

GRADES VIII. AND IX.

Carrie A. Smith, Teacher.

In Grade VIII. the work done during the past year has been almost the same as in the year preceding. Special attention has been given to English composition, with good results. In Grade IX. it was thought best in September to drop Latin from the course of study and substitute rhetoric. In United States history special lines of reading are followed according to suggestions by John Fiske, the author of the text-book in that study.

HIGH SCHOOL.

Walter L. Van Kleeck, Principal.

In general, the work has been carried on along the same lines as last year, the chief difference being in the increased emphasis laid upon the work in English and the introduction of book-keeping.

French and German are taught as heretofore, four terms being spent on the former, and three terms (one school year) on the latter.

In Latin the pupils entering the school have had one year's work; and they go on through the study of Cæsar, Cicero, and Virgil. Increased importance has been attached to the work in Latin composition, in order that the pupil may acquire that understanding of Latin constructions which comes only from the constant use of them by the pupil himself.

The course in general history has been shortened by omitting the study of various parts of mediæval history; and the time thus saved will be devoted to geometry, which will thereby be made to extend through one school year.

The most notable change in English has been the introduction of the practice of writing daily "themes," short sketches on various subjects, sometimes assigned by the teacher, sometimes of the pupil's own choosing. The habit of writing something every day, if only a single page, cannot help being of benefit to the pupil in increasing his ability to write smooth, accurate English. Another important addition to the work of the school has been the introduction of book-keeping, in which the scholars have shown a marked interest. Of course, in the brief amount of time that can be given to the subject, it is not possible to give a thorough training in the science of accounts; but it is possible to lay a foundation upon which it will be easy to build the later practical knowledge, by giving the pupil a good idea of the theory and principles underlying the subject. This the school can and does aim to do.

SCHOOL SUPERVISION.

Several years ago the town accepted the act of the legislature in relation to the formation of districts comprising two or more towns, of a given valuation and number of schools, and the employment of a Superintendent who, under the direction of the Committee, should supervise the work in the schools. The town of Medfield has never availed itself of the provisions of this enactment. The Committee, while having, as individuals, their own opinions as to the merits or demerits of this law, are desirous of carrying out the will of the town as it shall be expressed. The good of the schools and the expense to the tax-payers are the factors in the problem. If the people of the town are convinced that supervision is advisable, and are willing to make the appropriation necessary, the Committee is ready to carry out their will in the matter. If, on the contrary, the town is not willing to adopt supervision, the Committee will be as obedient in this direction. A large majority of the towns in the Commonwealth have accepted and adopted the provisions of this law,—in many instances, with great and admitted advantages. In other instances, serious defects and disadvantages have presented themselves. As this matter of supervision may, in some form or other, come before the town for action, it is hoped that parents and all concerned in the welfare of the schools will consider the matter so as to act intelligently either for or against such supervision.

In this report the Committee would call attention to the need of greater interest on the part of parents in the schools, and hope they will acquire the habit of visiting them often and see for themselves what is being done. Intelligent criticism is always welcome. What interest can scholars or teachers manifest when parents are indifferent? These children are your children. You owe it to them to take a personal and painstaking part in their education. It is a great stimulus to teachers when parents visit the schools frequently, and make it known that they know and appreciate good teaching and will insist upon having it. Look back over your own school days, and do you not observe that those scholars whose parents visited the school generally excelled in scholarship? The schools of any community will always be just as good as public sentiment demands,—no better, no worse.

The prudential affairs connected with the schools have been managed with such a regard to the welfare of the scholars as the means at hand would admit, and the Committee have borne in mind that strict economy is required. But demands are constantly arising which call for outlay, some of which cannot always be foreseen. Among the demands in the near future will be the painting of the North School-house, and a proper water supply for both the North and South Schools, this being at present very unsatisfactory. During the past year the South School-house has been shingled, the blackboards in four of the rooms at the Ralph Wheelock School have been redressed, concrete walks have been laid in the yard of the latter school, and lightning rods have been placed upon the new part of the building, and the old rods inspected and repaired. Measures are under way to secure proper inspection, care, and insurance of the boilers in this building ; and the fire alarm drill has been perfected, in so far that the entire building is vacated without disorder or confusion, in one and one-fourth minutes, at the maximum, and in a great majority of instances in less than one minute. These precautions have been taken by the Committee with a realizing sense that parents intrust their children for thirty-six weeks in every year to the care of the town ; and it is the duty of the town to protect and guard them as far as possible from sickness, injury, or harm of any kind, so that, when a child is sent to school, the parent at home or at his business can feel that proper vigilance is exercised to protect the child.

The Committee desires to recognize the kindness of the Trustees of the Public Library in furnishing the principal of the High School with keys, so that he can obtain books that will be helpful to the scholars in their studies at any time.

The text-books in use are in a generally fair condition. Some are badly worn and much soiled. Pupils should never be required to use filthy books. The town, under State law, is required to furnish pupils with text-books and school supplies ; and this should be done with decent liberality. Economy should be practised in providing these necessities, but it would be meanness to require a child to use a book that no self-respecting man or woman would touch except with a pair of tongs. In this matter the teachers have endeavored to instill into the minds of the pupils the principle that public property is to be used more carefully than private property, and to practise a strict economy in the use of supplies. In spite of the utmost endeavor on the part of the teachers there will be some waste, but we believe it to be in our schools at the minimum.

This report has been extended and is somewhat in detail, that the people may know the condition of the schools, and in the hope of a stimulated interest of them. It matters not what efforts may be made by school boards, superintendents, or teachers, or what educational views any or all of them may entertain : it is the general sentiment of the community which will determine what the schools shall be. Our school system should be devoid of the false, the glittering, the showy, but full of healthy moral and mental training, teaching the true dignity of the labor of the hands as well as of the brain, not omitting the gentler affections of the heart.

REPORT OF TRUSTEES OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The Trustees respectfully submit the following report:—

Donations of books have been received from Colonel E. V. Mitchell, Mr. Nathaniel T. Allen, Mr. Bracey Curtis, and Mrs. Mary Fitch.

One hundred new books have been added during the year. There are now 4,234 books in the library; and 12 periodicals have been subscribed for, for the use of the reading-room. The librarian reports a circulation of 7,889 volumes during the past year.

We have delayed the issue of a new catalogue in order not to exceed our appropriation. The expenditures for the year will be found in the Selectmen's report. There remains to the credit of the library an unexpended balance of $104.85, which, with the usual appropriation of $100 and the dog tax, will, we think, be enough to pay the running expenses and provide for a new catalogue.
